GREETSON, COMRADES

LATE SUBMARINE OFFICER WELLS COMES SON, THEN FORMER SHIPMATES

A trait of the boys and men who served in the World War that is most noticeable is their extreme modesty and reluctance to let anything be known of their experiences. One will be surprised, quite frequently, to learn that his next door neighbor is a man who has been through scenes that try men's souls. As an example, just next to the Evening News office is an electrical workman, a quiet, unassuming man, whom one would never think of as having been through scenes that often turn a man's hair gray in a single night. We refer to Robert E. Lewis, assistant to A. S. Knox in his Autolelectric Shop. Mr. Lewis was for three and one-half years on U. S. submarine F2. He was in Honolulu waters when the lamented F4, a sister ship, went down, drowning her entire crew of 19 men. When the war came the F2 was sent to San Pedro Submarine Base as a training ship and was there until after the war closed. Mr. Lewis was First Class Electrician and did much of the electrical training of recruits. The submarine is propelled by both steam and electric engines. The Diesel oil burning steam engine is used for surface cruising and the electric engine for undersea travel. This latter engine is run by storage batteries, which are renewed from the big dynamos on board which is kept going by the Diesel. Thus the cruising radius of a sub is limited only by its fuel oil and commissary supplies capacity. The F2 is one of the smaller type subs, only 140 feet long. The new S boats are more than twice as large.

Mr. Lewis was greatly rejoiced by the return of his son, Eugene, last week. Though he is now but 17 years old he has been in service for two years and has made 10 round trips across the ocean on transports as a member of the armed guard that manned the guns for defense that every transport carried. He is quite large of his age so had no trouble in enlisting, after he had his mother's consent. When discharged he was Second Class Gunner's Mate, and had held the honor of being star gun pointer of his crew for a year.

Mr. Lewis had another pleasant experience Tuesday when two of his former shipmates, Chief Quartermaster Williams and First Class Machinist's Mate Short, with their wives, motored out to Glendale to see him. They had just been discharged at San Pedro and were enjoying a brief outing before settling down to work.

IS HELPING TO BUILD UP GLENDALE

E. L. Osborn, the Montrose, Colo., banker, who is spending a year in Glendale to look after filling up his tract between Broadway and Wilson avenue, west of Columbus avenue, with new buildings, has already several fine residences thereon, and is taking steps, as will be seen in our classified advertising columns, to build many more and thus improve our beautiful city. Mr. Osborn says he thinks that when his year is up he will decide to stay in Glendale permanently and sell his interest in the Montrose Bank, which his son is now looking after.

THE BABY CHICK

DIRECTIONS FOR THE FIRST FEEDING AND SUBSEQUENT CARE OF HIM

As a large majority of Evening News readers keep large or small flocks of chickens, we are always glad to place before them in our columns the sayings of experts in poultry culture. The fall hatching has just begun so a few words on how to care for the new chicks will not come amiss. Here is what an experienced hatcher says about it:

Many a good hatch is spoiled by lifting up the hen to have "just one peek" or opening the incubator door out of curiosity. When the chickens are removed to the brooder, do not be in a hurry for the first feed. A chick will get along first rate without anything to eat for forty-eight hours or more, and that first should be sand or grit. Nothing is better to follow this up than dry stale bread squeezed out of milk. Feed this five times a day for two days, gradually substituting with a chick food. If you mix your own feed, take fifteen pounds of each of fine cracked corn and fine wheat with ten pounds pin head oatmeal. This is an ideal food, and for a few times should be spread on a (Continued on Page 4)

G. U. H. RENOVATION

PAINTERS AND JANITORS MAKE SCHOOL INTERIOR READY FOR STUDENTS, TEACHERS

In these days of discontent and unrest it is cheering to see a contented, useful, self-respecting man, and such an one is Jacob Lord, one of the janitors of the High School. The closing of its doors to students does not mean that the doors are locked and no footsteps resound in the corridors during the summer vacation. Oh no! Then is the time the Business Manager finds his work laid out for him and when he summons painters and repairers to put buildings in order. Then, too, is the time when the janitors wash down the painted walls, scrub the floors preparatory to reoil-ing, wash, oil and polish furniture and woodwork, not to speak of caring for the school grounds which have never looked finer than they do today, particularly the lawn which is wonderfully free from weeds.

Mr. Lord feels proud of the neat, clean interior he is helping to make for the teachers and well he may for it is conscientious work which reflects credit on him and the administration in general.

Except for renovation, few changes are being made. Thirty-five new desks and seats are being placed in the Spanish classroom to take the place of the chairs needed elsewhere, and a special cafeteria dining room has been provided for the members of the faculty apart from the one for students. It is a cosy room accommodating twenty or more and will doubtless be in request for committee dinners and the like.

SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON HOUSE

Don Wells is said to be the most popular boy on West Harvard street and one of the reasons is apparent when one visits his home and discovers the airy perch he has built in a big pepper tree in the front yard, a regular Swiss Family Robinson dwelling which is free to his friends who gather there to read and swap stories. Don sleeps there on hot nights. It is approached, but not reached, by a ladder which falls sufficiently short to suggest that there may have been a method in this deficiency—that it may have been planned to discourage the visits of curious girls but perhaps this suspicion does injustice to the chivalrous instincts of the boys.

BACK IN HARNESS

RICHARDSON D. WHITE SAYS SCHOOL ENROLLMENT PROMISES TO BE VERY LARGE

Richardson D. White, Superintendent of City Schools, has returned to Glendale, but had a rather strenuous time getting here. When he went to San Diego last Saturday he got a round-trip transportation by boat on the assurance that he could get accommodations Monday, but when Monday arrived and he appeared at the steamship office in San Diego they told him there was nothing doing and they could give him no assurance when they could accommodate him. He then engaged a seat in a bus leaving at eleven o'clock, but even that company refused to honor his demands. A compromise was effected when the transportation company commandeered the services of a young man coming this way with an auto which would carry six passengers, hiring him to convey their patrons.

Mr. White says a very large enrollment in the schools is expected, due to the fact that all residences are filled up.

A few new courses are to be added to the curriculum of the Intermediate including type-writing and one of the problems is to find a place for the machines. It is probable that a portion of the library will be reserved for them. Arrangements have been made to have the drawing room fitted with desks so it can be used for other purposes, but as few changes as possible are being made because when funds are available from the new bond issue an addition to the school will be built.

The last information relative to the bonds was that the County Supervisors might be ready to place them on sale September 1st, but in any event they will be offered the early part of September.

J. L. Peterson, who is employed in the auditor's office of the Santa Fe Railroad, has purchased a lot from E. L. Osborn on Wilson avenue in the Osborn Tract, No. 752. Mr. Peterson will begin at once the erection of a 6-room bungalow for residence purposes.

BROTHERHOOD REPUDIATES STRIKE

WILL ENDEAVOR TO FILL PLACES LEFT VACANT BY RAILROAD STRIKERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—Railroad Brotherhood officials may seek to fill the places left vacant by the railroad strikers on the Pacific coast was the intimation conveyed here today by Warren Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Stone was asked whether the Brotherhood officials were in a position to fulfill contracts by filling the places of strikers, and he replied: "We have carried out contracts for a good many years and will continue to do so now. We will do our utmost to carry out contracts on the Pacific Coast. The strikes are not sanctioned by us. We insist that our men out there perform their duties in full as specified by contracts."

FRISCO TRAIN SERVICE CANCELLED

BELT LINE TIED UP WHEN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA STRIKE SPREAD TO BAY CITY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—All train service out of San Francisco was canceled today and the belt line was tied up when the rail strike that has paralyzed Southern California suddenly made its appearance.

PRESIDENT'S TOUR TO BEGIN IN TWO WEEKS

WILL OCCUPY FORTY DAYS IF HE CAN STAND STRAIN OF CONTINUOUS SPEAKING—MAY REVIEW FLEET

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The President will start on his speaking tour as soon as arrangements can be made, was the information given out at the White House today. This will be within two weeks, it was said, since plans cannot be completed in shorter time. A corps of assistants is working on the itinerary.

The President does not feel that it is necessary for him to wait for the treaty to be reported out of the Senate. The trip will occupy about forty-five days if he can stand the strain of continuous speaking. It is considered possible that the President may be in San Francisco in time to review the fleet.

MINISTER TO CHINA RESIGNS

PAUL S. REINSCH TENDERS PORTFOLIO TO PRESIDENT WILSON BECAUSE OF ILL HEALTH

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The resignation of Paul S. Reinsch, American Minister to China, is in the hands of President Wilson, it was learned here today. Ill health and a desire to return to business life are the reasons given.

SANTA FE RAILROAD REFUSES BUSINESS

NO SHIPMENTS SOUTH OR WEST OF BARSTOW ARE ACCEPTED AT KANSAS CITY ON ACCOUNT OF STRIKE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 27.—The Santa Fe Railroad refused all business to points south and west of Barstow, Cal., today because of the strike in Southern California.

CALIFORNIA, NEVADA, ARIZONA ISOLATED

RAILROAD STRIKERS DEFYING BROTHERHOODS CUT OFF THOSE STATES FROM REST OF NATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Striking in defiance of the chiefs of the Brotherhoods, employees of railroads in California, Nevada and Arizona had almost entirely isolated those states from the rest of the nation today. "There are some trains moving in those states," declared William Sproule, district director of the railroad administration, but he admitted the tie-up was almost complete.

TELEPHONE COMPROMISE REJECTED

ELECTRICAL WORKERS AND OPERATORS SAID TO HAVE REPUDIATED IT BY MAJORITY VOTE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—According to a statement given out today by L. C. Grasser, international vice-president of the Electrical Workers' Brotherhood, "telephone operators and electrical workers on the Pacific coast in the referendum vote just taken rejected by a large majority the compromise agreement under which they recently returned to work." Officials state that the count will be completed tonight.

GLENDALE'S WIZARD

CUTS H. C. L. BY MAKING MACHINES TO ELIMINATE LABOR AND REDUCE COST

The man or woman who wants to get a bit of philosophy about what constitutes success and how to achieve it should visit the inventor, William C. Cutler, 1327 North Louise street. He is a charming host and his own best demonstrator of his theories. He says, for instance:

"One road to success is always open to any man and that is by devising a plan of selling merchandise of any name or nature to a vast number of people who do not realize a wish to buy. It is the rare man who hits upon a new idea for increasing sales in great volume who finds himself famous in spite of the fact that millions of his fellows are all the while eager to discover such a new idea. Those who reach fame by such discoveries are so infrequent that such an one is likely to make the journey alone. And yet it looks simple after some one has done it."

Mr. Cutler has come to realize the sober truth of the old saw: "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and so he plays as systematically as he works. A man as busy as he cannot be frivolous and so he rests his brain by playing with plants and making the breeding of geraniums his hobby when he gets tired of walking the paths of science and mechanics and wants to give his mind a ride.

His workroom is a museum of the one hundred and forty-two inventions he has developed in his active and successful life, and having cultivated his inventive genius it is as natural for him to keep on inventing as it is for the novelist to continue creating plots and characters. As the (Continued on Page 4)

THE TRUCK IS TRIUMPHING

For years the owners of the Glendale Creamery Company, formerly McMullin's Dairy, have continued using horses for milk delivery, claiming it was safer and more economical, though practically every other dairy serving Glendale customers used auto trucks. Their only concession to the new order of things was the use of a large truck for wholesale deliveries. But they are now gradually coming around to the new way and will use the big truck for early morning and late night deliveries, running it practically all the time, using horses for daylight work. We predict that ere long the horse will be discarded entirely.

WEDDING IN PROSPECT

MISS VETA FRANKLIN TO BECOME THE BRIDE OF CHAS. F. ROBBINS, SEPT. 7TH

The engagement of Miss Veta Franklin to Charles F. Robbins has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin, parents of the bride-elect. Mr. Robbins is a mining engineer, but at present is interested in oil properties in Texas and Oklahoma. His acquaintance with his fiancée has been of long standing and the marriage is eminently suitable and satisfactory to all friends of the contracting parties. Since her return from Ardmore, Oklahoma, with her sister, Mrs. Franklin Head, Miss Franklin has been guest of honor at a number of festivities arranged by friends and relatives. She has been supervisor of home economics in the public schools of Long Beach and will be missed there as well as in Glendale. The marriage will take place September 7th at the Franklin home, 246 North Central avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins will spend the winter in Dallas, Tex., to be near the oil fields in which the prospective groom is interested, but it is expected that eventually they will make a permanent home in Southern California.

STRIKE DETAINS VISITORS

Miss Clarissa Ellerback and Mrs. Lucy Smith of Salt Lake City are guests of Mrs. William C. Mabry. They have been spending the summer at La Jolla and stopped to see Mrs. Mabry en route for home with the intention of taking an east-bound train last Saturday, but were caught by the strike and now do not know when they can start; but they are very welcome guests in Mrs. Mabry's home. The last news she had from the doctor stated that he had sufficiently recovered from his serious illness to be up and around, but was not yet well enough to return to duty. He has been seeking discharge and Mrs. Mabry is hoping he will surprise her by walking in one of these days provided he can secure any means of transportation.

ON THE BORDER

MR. AND MRS. WELLS AWAIT NEWS OF NEAL WELLS AT MARFA WITH 8TH CAVALRY

Mrs. P. A. Wells of 339 West Harvard St. is anxiously awaiting news from her son, Neal Wells, who is with Company I, of the Eighth Cavalry, which has for some time been stationed at Marfa, on the Mexican border. She has every reason to suppose that he was a part of the expedition of 370 men which pursued the two bandits who captured American aviators and who released them on payment of a ransom. This is the third time within a little more than a year that the cavalry has had occasion to cross the border and seek to punish Mexican raiders, who have stolen cattle and otherwise harassed the border districts.

For several weeks Neal was in the hospital recovering from a badly sprained ankle resulting from an accident in which he was thrown from his horse. He was fording a river in the midst of a heavy rain and hail storm. Wreckage was floating down the river and a small board struck his horse which was frightened and suddenly reared. Neal was wearing his slicker tightly buttoned up which hampered his freedom of action and he was thrown, his ankle being twisted in the operation in some manner, the details of which he has never written. He is quite well now, however.

ANOTHER BUILDING AT COLORADO AND BRAND

The southwest corner of Colorado and Brand is a hive of industry these days. Mr. LeClare is putting the finishing touches on his oil station and refreshment stand and just west of his buildings another is being erected for a fruit stand of considerable proportions, something like those that are to be seen further east along Colorado. It will be conducted by Harry Wilson and Morse Freeman, two popular young men of Glendale.

CHURCH NIGHT AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

Members of Central Christian Church are reminded that this is the regular church night, when, after a fellowship supper at 6:15, committees will get together for business and then will follow the weekly prayer meeting on the topic "The Psalm of the Harvest," led by Mrs. Ben Bolen. A large attendance is hoped for.

NO STORAGE PLANT HOARDINGS IN SOUTHLAND

The storage men of Southern California have been exonerated of all charges of hoarding food to force a raise in prices. Federal investigators conducted a searching inquiry with the above result. When the findings of investigators in large eastern cities that millions of pounds of food commodities are being held in storage to force up prices, is considered, the report for this section of the nation is certainly one to be proud of.

CAMP MEETING TALKS

STIRRING SERMONS ON VITAL TOPICS MARK DAILY SESSIONS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—That mankind stands today on the border of eternity, that some of those who, on November 13, 1833, saw the great star-shower, when thousands upon thousands of meteors fell, and the display of celestial pyrotechnics continued during almost the entire night—that some of those people will live to see the coming of Christ in the clouds of heaven in fulfillment of Christ's own prediction in Matthew 24:34 where is found the statement, "This generation shall not pass away till all these things be fulfilled," was the declaration of Elder N. J. Waldorf, of Australia, who spoke at the Seventh-Day Adventist camp-ground, Western and Melrose avenues, Hollywood, last night.

"When you read a letter from a friend, you don't have to go to court to find out what your friend wants, even though he may not always spell his words correctly, nor punctuate as he should," said Mr. Waldorf. "But when men read the Bible, which is more clear and plain than a letter from a friend, they think it must be interpreted by learned scholarship. The greatest deception Satan has introduced is the spiritualizing away of the plain words of Scripture. There are symbols in the Bible, of course, but where there are symbols they have to be explained by literal language, just the same. The Bible it— (Continued on Page 3)

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT

The mayors and councilmen and other executive heads of the cities of Los Angeles, Glendale Pasadena, South Pasadena, Alhambra and the Beach towns have an excellent opportunity to do a noble service for their communities at present by taking steps to assure the Electric Railway Companies that their trainmen and property will be protected while trains are running on schedule time to deliver passengers during the early night hours. Thousands of persons are depending on employment that necessitates their return home at almost the midnight hour and the non-operating of cars at night causes much inconvenience, discomfort and extra expense to many wage-earners.

If the executive heads of cities, to whom the people have a right to look for protection at such a time as this, would realize the patriotic service they can render to humanity by doing things that will make a country safe to live in, arrangements would be made if necessary to have a deputy officer stationed at intervals of one, two or three rods on the lines being traveled over.

In this period of the world's history in which there is so much said about our high standing among other nations of the world, it would be indeed very appropriate to make conditions safe for the transportation of the traveling public during the night time.

For the heads of cities to assure operators of cars safety through their respective municipalities is not favoring or opposing any corporation or labor organization, it is merely performing a duty that is for the good of the public.

FRUIT ACREAGE EXPANDING

Phenomenal prices for small fruits is starting hundreds of owners of land to putting out one to ten acre fruit tracts. The fact that even cull apples bring ten dollars a ton shows the unlimited demand for jellies, of which fruit juices are color base. That a St. Louis syndicate has recently invested $800,000 in orchards in one western state shows the direction capital is taking on fruit.

Strawberries, loganberries, and red raspberries proved gold mines this year even for quarter acre patches, netting $200 an acre. On top of this berry patch owners find ready market for all canes and tips that root between now and winter at good prices. Strawberries averaged 4 1/4 cents a pound for ten years past, and new contracts are offered growers at 7 to 8 cents for five years. Raspberries averaged 5 1/4 cents a pound for ten years before 1919 and growers are offered contracts at 8 to 10 cents a pound for five years. Loganberry tips for planting are worth $25 a thousand, and can be produced with little effort three to five thousand to the acre. Raspberry canes are worth for planting $8 to $10 per thousand and are self-starters at the rate of ten thousand to the acre. The expansion of small fruit industry builds up many allied industries such as juice, box, can manufacturing, etc.—Exchange.

MONDAY MORNING

Woke up Monday mornin' with the gas smellin' rank,
Water runnin' out of the bath-room tank;
I threw up the window and the glass went bang,
Jerked wide the door and my toe felt a pang;
Turned off the faucet but the water kept on,
Gasket worn out, bath-room like a pond.
Tea kettle leaked and the pan boiled dry,
Scorched all the oatmeal, burned up a pie;
Took ahold the handle of the frying pan,
Burned a big blister all over my hand.
Had left the handle over a nearby blaze,
Now I'll have a sore for endless days.
Picked up the milk bottle, slipped from my hand,
Hit upon a rock and soaked up the sand.
Tried to wake wifey and she flew into a rage,
Said she hadn't slept for an old coon's age;
Bothered all night with an aching head;
Wasn't at all particular what she said.
Out to feed the chickens, old hen dropped dead,
Rabbit through the slats a hangin' by its head;
Goats got out and ate up all the roses,
Blatted "You'll be sorry if you oppose us."
Started for the office, got down late,
Met the chief clerk at the office gate;
He said a few things as past him I went,
Looked a few more, showing discontent.
About 3:00 P. M. I happened to think,
I'd turned on the hose to give the roses a drink;
Clear forgot to stop it when I left,
I guess the darn thing is a'runnin' yet.

ROSCOE DENNY.

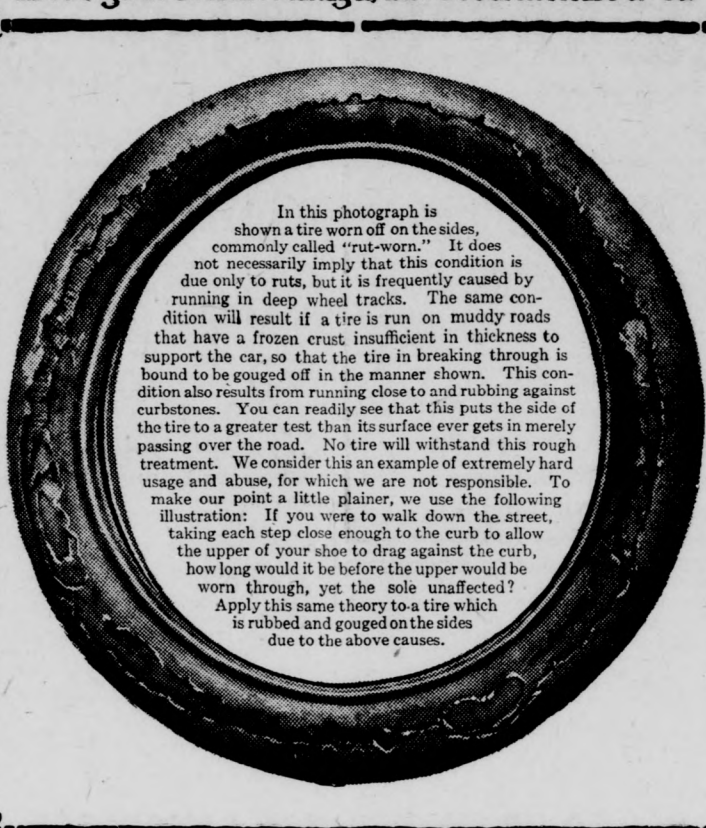

THE ULTIMATE CONSUMER HARDEST HIT BY STRIKE

Tons of decayed fruit were thrown into the Los Angeles river Tuesday by local produce companies from cars that had been standing in railroad yards since the strike began. Where there was a chance of saving some by sorting it was given to poor people or sold to canneries at a big sacrifice. The losses will fall most heavily on the growers, for a great deal of the fruit was consigned to produce dealers, to be paid for when sold. So the direct loss will be to the producer, while the dealer will also suffer and eventually the consumer will have to either go without or pay much higher prices than he can afford for canned fruit. And the reduced supplies going to canneries will curtail their labor needs and thus throw many out of work. So the ill-considered and unauthorized strike on the electric lines, followed by a similar one on the steam lines, injures the very people the strikers profess to love above all others and brings hardship into the workers' own homes.

Personals

Miss Violet Turner of North Jackson street is spending part of her vacation with friends in Hollywood.

Miss Sarah Hommer, of 440 Hawthorne street, has just returned from a two weeks' vacation spent at Switzer's Camp and one of the beaches.

Misses Vera, Winnie and Zenith Sinclair of 245 Sinclair avenue are leaving in a day or two for a week at Catalina.

Raymond Cleeland, of 437 Hawthorne street, went to work for the Union Oil Company in Los Angeles, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. H. L. Adams, of 153 South Pacific avenue, returned to their home in Lindsay the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glascock of Fresno, who spent last week in Glendale as guests of their son, an employee of the Glendale Telephone Company, have returned to their home.

V. Price Brown, a former resident of Glendale, who is now a hardware merchant in Fresno, has been a guest in Glendale for several days and visited the Elks' Club Monday night.

Thursday will be a busy day at the West Glendale M. E. Church. In the forenoon the ladies will tie quilts. In the afternoon there will be a short business meeting of the Ladies' Aid and then an informal tea party.

Miss Alice Frank, who returned to her home from Thornycroft Hospital about ten days ago, is now well enough to be about the house and hopes before long to be enjoying her usual health.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith MacMullin, of 612 North Columbus avenue, have returned from an outing of several days' duration at Catalina which they say is very lovely just now. It is also very crowded with pleasure seekers.

Salo Desky of North Kenwood St. has returned from Denver, where he went to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nate Desky, who visited in Glendale two years ago and made quite a circle of friends here. He spent about a week in the Colorado city.

A. B. Scales, of Phoenix, Arizona, was in Glendale Tuesday looking after the sale of a lot he owns on Lomita avenue. He says everything is booming in Arizona, so much so that every workman can afford to take his week's or two weeks' vacation. He is spending his vacation at Long Beach.

Mrs. Suel Spaulding, wife of the druggist at the corner of Park avenue and Brand, hurried up her preparations and left for the east a little sooner than she had expected to. It was fortunate she did, for she got through before the strike went into effect and is now visiting friends in Indianola and Des Moines, Iowa, where she expects to remain for a couple of months.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turck of Glendale avenue have been cherishing the hope that their son and his family would so arrange their affairs as to come to California to stay permanently. They have been touring the east in an auto for some time and when last heard from were at Niagara. Mr. and Mrs. Turck have returned from a stay of several weeks at Manhattan Beach.

Mr. Metcalf, who has been in the custom house service at Calexico, was a guest of his friend, Harrison Frank, of 1558 East Wilson avenue, last Sunday. He seems to think many of the border troubles are exaggerated by newspaper correspondents and are not so serious in actuality as they sound. He admits, however, that a number of men have been killed in the neighborhood of Calexico.

Prof. Kingsley, son-in-law of Dr. Joseph Whytock, is beginning to worry about being among the marooned. He has a position awaiting him as superintendent of schools in New York City and is wondering how he is going to get across the continent. Some of his friends are suggesting the air service, others that he purchase an automobile, but either alternative calls for gasoline which may not be obtainable if the strike is not soon broken.

Gilbert Wright, for whose return from the navy his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Wright, of 451 Palm Drive, have been looking for the past two months, has arrived and has been renewing acquaintance with his family and friends. Before he entered the service he assisted his father as a carpenter and he plans to take up the same work now. He was a ship's carpenter during his term in the Navy. He and his mother are leaving by auto for Porterville to visit his sister, Mrs. J. R. Alston, and expect to return the first of next week.

Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, who was injured in an automobile accident recently, is able to be up and about the house, but her neck, arms and shoulders are still so lame she is unable to lift her arms above her head; also one knee is lame, but she is recuperating marvelously and is beginning to wonder herself at her miraculous escape from death. She argues that the Lord must have remembered that she had a dear baby and ten-year-old son needing her care and so protected her.

George Strawn of Oklahoma is a guest for the day of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin of North Central avenue.

Eugene Wernette is having a very good time at Camp Baldy as the guest of his friend, Carlton Walker.

At a special meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps held Tuesday afternoon at G. A. R. Hall, twenty new members were initiated.

The choir of St. Mark's will meet for rehearsal Thursday at 8 o'clock p. m. at the church. A full attendance is desired.

Mrs. James Ewins of 615 South Verdugo Road has returned from Ocean Park where she spent a week very pleasantly as the guest of her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Colvin of Los Angeles were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Will M. Chapman of 312 West Harvard street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayars who have been living at 214 West Chestnut street are moving to their new home at 315 North Orange street.

The Epworth League of the West Glendale M. E. Church will give a social Friday evening. All are to dress in costume. One attraction will be a carload of watermelons from Klondike.

Mrs. Calvin Whiting is today having the pleasure of entertaining an Illinois friend, Miss Elizabeth Parker, from Quincy, who has been spending several months in Southern California. They are life-long friends.

A lady who had an ad inserted for the sale of some chickens, came in hurriedly to order its discontinuance, saying: "My chickens are sold already and I am still having calls. Every subscriber of the Evening News must have read that ad and called up, judging by the way my phone bell has been ringing ever since the ad appeared."

Glendale movie fans who have revelled in Harold Lloyd comedies may miss their favorite after the present reels run out, as he was badly injured recently by the explosion of a bomb which was supposed to be a fake, but proved to be loaded, like the proverbial gun that goes off so easily. One eye was badly injured, his face scarred and the hand holding the bomb mutilated.

Mrs. A. P. Offutt and son, Jack, who formerly resided in this city on East Broadway and who are now living in San Diego, passed through Glendale last week and visited friends here while en route to Bakersfield to visit Mrs. Offutt's mother. They will probably stop again on their return. Mr. Offutt drives a stage which runs between San Diego and El Centro in the Imperial Valley.

Mrs. Catherine Bell and her son, Orvil J. Bell, who recently took unto himself a wife, have disposed of their property at 414 Vine street and have purchased a ranch near Corona to which they are moving this week. Mr. Bell has been employed in the basket factory but wants to try a more out-door life. They have been residents of Vine street for some time and will be much missed by their neighbors.

C. O. Fry, who kept a small store and the postoffice in Glenn, Sioux Co., Neb., decided to try California life for a year. He wanted to rent a house in Glendale for that long, but, failing in this, refused to give up his wish, so bought the place at 465 Milford and is now a permanent resident. Wishing to keep in touch with the city's doings, even though a stranger, he ordered the Evening News sent to his home.

SPECIAL W. R. C. MEETING

Members of the Woman's Relief Corps of N. P. Banks Post are requested to be at a special meeting to be held at ten o'clock Thursday morning, August 28th, at G. A. R. Hall. By order of
LILIAN PECKHAM,
President.

self is its own best commentary. Christ Himself gave to the book of Daniel the divine credentials, in spite of all the higher criticism arrayed against it.

"In Matthew 24 the disciples asked Christ a two-fold question; first, when Jerusalem would be destroyed, second when the end of the world would come. Necessarily Christ's answer was two-fold. He said, 'this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world, for a witness unto all nations, and then shall the end come.' The gospel was preached throughout the world in the days of the apostles. Archaeology unearths the proofs of that early Christianity in various parts of the world. In A. D. 66, Cestius surrounded Jerusalem with troops, but when ready to take the city, withdrew his forces for no reason whatever. To the Christians it was the sign Christ had given, and they fled. When, four years later, Titus besieged the city, not a Christian perished, although the city, including the beautiful temple, was destroyed.

"Some have lightly told us that the mysterious dark day, of May 19, 1780, foretold by Christ in Matthew 24 as a sign of his near coming, was caused by forest fires, but I have just returned from Washington, D. C., where for several weeks we have been searching the records of the Congressional Library, and the newspapers published at that time show that the darkness was very dense, that it stretched over an area almost as wide as from Los Angeles to Chicago, and over a correspondingly wide area from north to south. It could not have been caused by forest fires, for no forest fire ever yet raged which would produce smoke enough to completely obscure the sun over an area two thousand miles across.

"The darkness began about 10 o'clock in the morning, and continued throughout the night, the moon, which was just full, being likewise obscured. Since the moon was full, the phenomenon could not have been an eclipse. Furthermore, Christ said this would happen just after the tribulation of the dark ages would cease, and it came at the very time specified.

"Look at this world in its unrest. We do not know where we will be a year from now. An upheaval is before us which will stagger humanity. We are standing tonight on the border of the eternal world. As an ambassador for Christ, I give you His words, 'Watch ye therefore, for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come.' We are living in the closing scenes of this earth's history, and the generation which in 1833 knew the signs to be signs of Christ's coming, that generation will see the coming of Christ in the clouds of glory, and may God grant that you and I may be ready to meet Him."

Prof. Marion E. Cady, of Berkeley, educational superintendent of the Pacific Union Conference, spoke yesterday afternoon at the camp-ground on the Seventh-Day Adventists' educational system, and the need of Christian teaching. However, he said the public schools cannot and ought not to teach religion. It should be given by the home and the church, he said. He declared that esthetic culture without heart training is like a veneer which under stress either cracks or peels off, and underneath reveals the raw savage.

BREWSTER TAKES HOLD LIKE A VETERAN

Geo. T. Brewster, head of the city police department, is really enjoying his reversion to the work of other days in running the city bacon store. He wields the knife most scientifically in cutting the big strips into suitable pieces and as a wrapper he can't be beat. He will go back to his routine work with added zest for this little diversion. He and the two young lady assistants have not had an idle minute since the sale of that 2000 pounds of bacon opened Tuesday morning.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Beginning next Tuesday, September 2d, the liner and want ad department of the Evening News will receive the special attention of one person all of the time. That the new manager of this department may have a clean slate to begin with, all back accounts for liner advertising should be settled for at once, and after September 2d no accounts will be allowed to run unpaid. 30313*

RAISE ALL YOU CAN

There are many successful raisers of fall potatoes in Glendale and it would be a mighty good idea if every garden spot and every vacant lot in the city were planted to either potatoes or some other seasonable crop that will mature before frosts come, which may be several months yet. The strikes are far from settled and may continue for weeks, with consequent heavy losses of fruit and vegetables. Potatoes are already unusually high, with the crop already matured, so there is no telling to what heights the price will yet ascend.

Wonderful Opportunities in the Automobile Field

The history of American industries shows nothing which can compare with the rapid growth of automobile manufacturing. In the past few years a wonderful industry has been developed. In the United States alone there are over 500 factories at work on automobile construction, representing a capital of about $2,000,000,000. Besides there are about 32,000 dealers in the United States employing several hundreds of thousands of men and women.

The development of automobile delivery trucks and light wagons is proceeding rapidly and every year sees the introduction of new makes in large numbers.

The demand from factories, garages, and salesmen for trained men is a direct result of this marvelous growth. The supply of such men is small—their pay correspondingly high. This is the field of opportunity you can enter through the sure, easy Home-Study Courses of the International Correspondence Schools OF SCRANTON, PA.

Hundreds of thousands have proved it. The designer of the Packard "Twin Six" and hundreds of other engineers have climbed to success through I.C.S. help. For 28 years young men in offices, stores, shops, factories, mines, railroads—in every line of technical and commercial work—have been winning promotion and increased salaries through the I.C.S. Over 130,000 men are getting ready right now in the I.C.S. way for bigger jobs ahead. No matter where you live the I.C.S. will come to you. No matter what your handicap or how limited your means, the I.C.S. have a plan to meet your circumstances. No matter how small your previous education, the simply written, wonderfully illustrated I.C.S. textbooks make it easy to learn.

Co-Designer Liberty Motor

I take great pleasure in recommending your Courses to any young man who is ambitious and anxious to get the necessary education to enable him to make the most of his opportunities.

WAR DEBTS AND HIGH PRICES

Those who prophesy bad business conditions and a recurrence of low-price levels for commodities in general and are hesitant about making business commitments would do well before becoming too positive in their stand to make due allowance in their calculations for the effect which the vast funded war debts of the nations will have.

Probably the central influence dominating the fiscal policy of all the governments engaged in the war just ended is the necessity for rapidly reducing their outstanding war debts. The fixed interest charges on this debt, together with the sinking fund set aside each year to retire the principal, will require enormous sums of money to be raised by taxation.

This same situation applies to every country commercially important either by reason of its possession of raw materials or its ability to produce finished goods.

Under a regime of high prices these taxes will be relatively easy of collection. High prices stimulate business activity and raise the volume in dollars and cents of business transactions upon which taxes can be levied. The question naturally arises inasmuch as high prices facilitate the collection of taxes, Can the Government influence the level of prices? Yes, in many ways, both directly and indirectly.

The direct methods by which the Government can stimulate prices are too well known to require elaborate explanation. The most obvious illustration, of course, grows out of the government operation of the railroads, where every raise in wages finds expression in the increased cost of transportation. All guarantees of prices, such as that recently given to the wheat producers, have a decidedly stimulating effect on the price of other commodities.

The indirect methods whose action is not so apparent are no less far reaching in their effect. They relate to the currency and the instruments of credit. Any expansion or contraction in the volume of the circulating currency which the treasury may effect acts directly on the general level of prices. Whenever there is plenty of money in circulation you will always find high prices following closely behind, and vice versa. A liberal policy in the extension of credit through the various banking agencies of the Government, such as the Federal Reserve Banks, Farm Loan Banks, etc., will have a stimulating effect on business activity and prices. There is a limit, of course, beyond which the Government cannot go, and failure in the past to regard these limits has always resulted in severe financial crises.

Of course, the objection will be raised that any definite policy of stimulating high prices is not fair to the holders of government bonds, inasmuch as it depreciates the value of money and by so much the real value of the bonds. But when one stops to realize that every government is essentially political, is it unreasonable to think that the interests of the great tax-paying public will not have more weight with the government in power than the wishes of the proportionately smaller number of large bond holders? Further than that, hosts of the large bond holders are manufacturers who stand to realize increased profit on every advance in prices.

As stated above, there are limits in the stimulation of business activities and prices beyond which the government cannot safely go, but within those limits it seems to the writer that the government is likely to exert a very definite influence.—Wroe's Writings.

HOME INSTINCT IS DEEP-ROOTED IN US ALL

To the American soldier in France letters from home were the most welcome of anything that he received. But he wanted these letters to give him local news, the casual happenings in the family circle and the neighborhood gossip.

The home instinct is deep-rooted in us all. It is what binds men to a certain place so that they come to love the hills that surround it, or the old well at the backdoor, or the river along whose bank they used to play as children.

Of course this appetite for the local carried to excess gives us the dangerous gossip or the prejudiced provincial. But in its place this local interest is pure and wholesome.

How often certain places have become famous, just because men and women loved them! Thoreau loved Walden Pond with a deep intense affection, and he made other people love it through him. Emerson, idealist and dreamer with his mind upon Mount Olympus, drew much of his strength from the soil of Concord. He never became visionary or unbalanced, because he kept his feet upon the earth, and in the ponds and lakes there he saw the glory of the heavens reflected.

Thomas Carlyle moved to London and became one of the notable figures in literary circles, and yet he could not sever himself from the rock of which he was hewn. There was always in him the flavor of the peasant, the Scotch accent and the Puritan moralist from the Scotch hills and heather.

There was Bobbie Burns. One almost wishes that he had never gone to Edinburgh at all, or aspired to enter the social coterie. He is better in his native setting—among the peasantry of his home land, singing of the wee mouse, or the cotter in his rustic cottage.

And how much a part of New England is Whittier! We cannot dissociate him from it. To be snowbound with him there, is to enter into the reserve, the quiet confidence, the Puritan conscience of old New England.

And so we might go on. We see Wordsworth starting out in his meditative walks among the lakes and hills he loved. We always think of him in connection with Rydal Mount. He speaks of home as heaven. And there is no doubt that the matchless scenery about his home did much to make him the modern interpreter of nature interlarded with spirit.

This homing instinct is inborn. We cannot shake it from us if we would, and we would not if we could. Of course, it sometimes gets narrow, but there is not much danger of this in America, if one really knows what has gone to the making of country or neighborhood.

In our representative Americans there has been a splendid combination of the local and general. Emerson was an American Platonist, Mark Twain a western cosmopolitan, and Lincoln a pioneer idealist.

These two strains, the local and the general, the practical and the ideal, make the fiber of American character. They have helped to make us free and keep us so. Our land is so large and free, its mountains beckon to each other across such vast expanses, its plains extend so far, that we cannot imagine a citizen here becoming narrow or provincial. If we really love our homeland, we shall expand our thoughts to the measure of a continent and our ideals to match the greatest democracy the world has known.

It is good to have a quiet corner in such a land. We ought to feel toward it as the ancient Hebrew felt toward his home land. We are upon holy ground, and we stand amid the eternal ways as much today as our forefathers ever did.—Minneapolis Tribune.

board or paper with a small amount thrown on the sand floor or litter. When chicks are five days old all grain should be fed in a litter to make them scratch for it. There is nothing better as a drink than sweet or sour milk or buttermilk. Many leading poultrymen claim one need have no fear of bowel trouble in young chicks if their first drink is sour milk. As the doctors say, it kills the "bug" inside. Do not forget chick charcoal, for it surely is a chick preserver. It costs big money this season and is very hard to get, but the next best thing is a charred stick from the stove. If you have raised your chick until it is fourteen days old, it is a fair risk for the insurance agent.

novelist introduces the same characters in a series of books; so he utilizes the same principles in an ingenious variety of ways.

When last interviewed he was at work on oil sealed rotary compressors for use in compressing air and gases. He was also completing a number of novelties. One of these was a very practical scissors sharpener. Another was a most fascinating card case of which you had only to gently press the cover and a card would fly out. An English firm is now trying to buy it.

An invention that inspired real awe was a cotton picker which works on the same principle as the rotary screw driver, shooting out rotating screw-like arms which entangle and draw in the cotton as the machine passes up and down the rows.

A tricky little device so simple it makes every beholder wonder why he or she didn't think of it is an arrangement for detecting a leak in an auto tire—just a few scraps of paper fibre imprisoned in a little cage of wire screen shaped to the convexity of the tire. When it is passed over a leak the escaping air flutters the paper and the mystery is solved.

There are a pie wrapper and a bread wrapper which put the human hand to shame by their dexterity and are far more sanitary. Also an ice cream vending machine which hands out a five or ten-cent little brick of ice cream all wrapped according as the purchaser has used nickel or the dime slot. Mr. Cutler said nothing about a phonograph attachment which would call its wares or an automatic perambulator but those features will doubtless be added, for Mr. Cutler is clever enough to out-do the "tin man" and discount the "Wizard of Oz."

Give him time enough and he can be depended upon to reduce the high cost of living by cutting costs of manufacturing in two. As a sample there is his paper box machine that does the work normally performed by twenty-one girls. The raw paper is fed in at one end and the box comes out at the other end.
